Adobo beefed combines natchi mishi and adobong with corn kernels and sautéed sweet peppers and onions. It's served on a bed of rice with a poblano cream sauce.

THE TASTE TEST: Review
Leon Valley Café
Restaurant is tiny, but big on flavor

In a city with so many restaurants, it's hard to find a place that's not just a place, but a destination. Leon Valley Café is one of those places. Located in the heart of the city, this tiny restaurant is a gem. The food is excellent, the service is friendly, and the atmosphere is warm. It's a place where you can enjoy a great meal without spending a lot of money. The menu is diverse, offering a variety of dishes that cater to different tastes. From traditional Mexican to modern American, there's something for everyone. The staff is knowledgeable and attentive, making sure every guest has a great experience. Leon Valley Café is a hidden gem in the city, and it's definitely worth a visit.
